

People and Processes

Questions

1. Investigating the data management roles currently in place at your organization - are there similarities to the user hats as described in the lecture/book chapter?
2. How - if at all - is the task of data enrichment handled in your organization?
3. Is your organization implementing some kind of process such as data segregation (e.g. by level of enrichment or by line of business)?